Mobile data can be sketchy. WhatsApp full message service can use WiFi connections, go far beyond the basic calls and texts with amazing group capabilities and secure chats. Facebook-owned WhatsApp has a clean and clear ad-free interface without hogging memory. More than 1 billion people in more than 180 countries use WhatsApp. Call or send a text whenever you want – there is never a cost for incoming or outgoing calls or messages. WhatsApp connects the world with a WiFi connection for person-to-person messages, such as sms, but with a twist. WhatsApp is a secure, free way to send a message. You will never have to worry about someone else stumbling on your private texts, images or videos. Recent versions of WhatsApp feature end-to-end encryption so that your messages are just that: your messages. Your calls and texts are always safe. No one, not even WhatsApp, can get into your messages and read, check or listen to them. Quick start with WhatsAppGetting start with WhatsApp is easy. Save the space from hunting down contacts from within the service. WhatsApp adds connections from your phone's contact list in a snap. Bysse the email junk or nuisance of file sharing programs. PDFs, spreadsheets, slide shows and documents of up to 100 megabytes are allowed so you can send forward alongside the information you want the people you need, no problem. Tell everyone the good news. Using broadcast lists send one message once, to the contacts you want without phenomenon invitations. With WhatsApp, haunting is a thing of the past. Well, almost. WhatsApp removes the guesswork. You can see your message has been delivered, and if it has been read, with check marks just like Skype and Telegram.The WhatsApp Groups feature is where WhatsApp excels. Think of it like a community bulletin board under your control. Creating groups is fast. Open your contact list, select friends or family, and then slap on a name. Enter different groups of different names to keep all your important contacts separately. Make groups for collaborators, fantasy football friends, and for everyone the next family plan reunion. Share the next night venue or warn the group after your job promotion. As the group admin, you can invite people to join your group one of three ways. You can tap on the person you want to invite, click More, and then Group information. Or you can swipe the specific group on the left side of the chat button, More, and then tap into Group Information. Copy the link or share it. Or flashbacks to 2005 with a scannable QR code. The only disadvantage of group formation is this: the link is portable by anyone in the group. It's not a dictatorship, so if Uncle Eddie decides to invite foreign cousin Al to the family's reunion planning group, there's nothing you can do about it. WhatsApp can help you prevent an out-of-control group catastrophe. If your group doesn't every time you post an update, you can set your group so that only administrators have that authority, did, can make anyone, and everyone, an admin – but no one can change your administration status. If you want to throw off the coats of admin status, you must leave the group. If you are invited to a group in Telegram, the service will keep your phone number private and only display your name and image. Online or last seen timestamps Check if your friend is online or find out when your friend was last using WhatsApp with the last seen timestamp feature. If your friend is tagged online, does it mean that their WhatsApp is running in the background and is Internet-connected.Mored of all who call you out for not responding to a message quickly enough? Disable the blue ticks on WhatsApp to bypass the pressure of an instant response. If your boss or needy friend also uses WhatsApp, once they see a reading receipt, there is no pretend you were too busy responding. Note, however, that if you turn off reading receipts, you will no longer see the reading receipts of others. Is there a better alternative? For all the great free WhatsApp features, there is a disadvantage for video lovers. WhatsApp has a 16 megabytes on videos. While you can switch your camera to low resolution for a longer video, other iPhone message apps such as Telegram and Skype offer significantly large media files. Telegram is a close WhatsApp competitor – it even carries an agreement with the app's minimalist interface. Telegram and Viber Messenger offer secure connections with one extra step, the ability to send a message to self-defending and disappear. Yet, WhatsApp rises above message apps, such as Viber and Kik because it's easy to start chatting. WhatsApp does not require a profile. You don't have to ask for a username or wait for a link to reach out to someone in your contact list if you have their phone number. Anyone who has your number can find you on the app and send a message. No one can also hide behind a false identity. WhatsApp cuts through the mornings. Sending a message is fast. Editing a message is impossible. Other iPhone message services such as Telegram offer inline editing. WhatsApp has still been on board, so if you make a mistake, you're trapped with it. Where can I run this program? WhatsApp runs on iOS 8.0 and later versions. You and your BFF have iPhones, the rest of the gang has phones with other operating systems. How do you group chat? Whatsapp. WhatsApp may have started on Android and iOS, but it does one better, works on tablets, the internet, desktop, and other smartphone brands. Your account will sync across your devices for a seamless experience. WhatsApp's cross-platform instant service offers steadfast reliability, while alleviated any fears about online privacy. Message transparency, group control, and international capabilities make WhatsApp a must-have freebie download. Even Granny can get in on this one. Should I download it? For all the benefits of WhatsApp, the large group features, the Start, and zero leather curve, WhatsApp is only free for first See what you think before you spend money on what other messages iPhone apps do for free.
